NEW CAREER, NEW LIFE!

My Thirty-One Story

Hello everyone! We are thrilled to debut our newest catalog as we approach another milestone here at Thirty-One...our 5-year anniversary! We have many new products along with our returning favorites. You are sure to find a variety of unique gifts for you and your loved ones. Not only do we have one of a kind products, we also offer free embroidery on all eligible items!

As President and Founder of Thirty-One, I am overjoyed with the progress the company has made. When I began my business 5 years ago, I could have never predicted how many women would see their dreams come true through Thirty-One. Our company continues to prosper and grow everyday thanks to the entire Thirty-One team. I can't imagine where we will be in another 5 years. Through the hard work of our home office team and our terrific Consultants, Thirty-One is a rising star with no end in sight!

Be sure to read the personal testimonies from some of our top Consultants throughout the catalog. These wonderful stories confirm the reasoning behind the company's concept. The mission behind Thirty-One is derived from the Old Testament. Proverbs 31 describes a virtuous woman who worked in her community for her family and deserved much reward. We believe in encouraging, recognizing and rewarding women by helping them achieve a career that provides the perfect balance between work and home.

There aren't enough words to describe my appreciation for the great people who keep Thirty-One up and running. Without each and every one of you, Thirty-One would not be where it is today! As we approach our 5-year anniversary, a special thanks goes out to Thirty-One Vice President Julie Sutton who has been by my side since day one. I also want to recognize our Founding Consultants who paved the way for Thirty-One's amazing success! Thank you from the bottom of my heart. The rest is still unwritten.

My Thirty-One Story

You never know how quickly life can change, until it happens to you. As a mother of four I had a family-friendly career as a speech pathologist, and had never considered working in direct sales. But that all changed four years ago when my husband brought home a Thirty-One catalog and suggested that I meet with his co-worker who had started a business. That co-worker turned out to be Thirty-One founder and president Cindy Monroe, and one lunch later I was on my way!

What appealed to me about Thirty-One was the company's spirit and mission statement. I was also looking for fellowship with other women. Over the last four years, I have developed lasting friendships with consultants, hostesses and other customers. I've also strengthened my leadership skills I use as a speech pathologist. So whether you're reading this as a customer, hostess or someone considering the many opportunities that Thirty-One offers, just know that Thirty-One has been such a blessing in my life. I believe God placed this opportunity in my life to help me grow to be the woman He wants me to be.

My Thirty-One Story

A complete transformation is never out of reach. As a stay-at-home mom to five girls, I had no direct sales experience and wasn't a big fan of speaking in front of groups. But that all changed after joining Thirty-One in January 2007. What started as an opportunity to make some extra money and an excuse to get out of the house a few nights of the month now serves as the catalyst that changed my life forever.

As I began building my dreams, the encouragement I received from the Thirty-One family was like nothing I had ever experienced. So I began sharing this wonderful opportunity with the women who now make up my team. Women who I consider a true blessing!

Being the CEO of my own business has given me confidence, better leadership abilities and financial freedom! It's awesome when you can pay your house payment with just one commission check. My family is proud of me and so am I. That's why I encourage anyone who is thinking about starting their own Thirty-One business to begin your transformation today. You will be celebrated, encouraged and rewarded every step of the way!

My Thirty-One Story

Finding the missing link. I wasn't sure what it was, but I knew it was out there. After making the decision to give up cheer coaching to have more time with my boys, I realized that I missed helping other women realize their dreams. In October 2006 that all changed.

While attending my first Thirty-One party, I instantly fell in love with the products and decided to book my first party. It was a complete success and prompted me to become a consultant. Since then, my business has taken off! I've booked parties, made money and built the friendships that filled a certain void in my life. Thirty-One was, and continues to be my missing link.

I have truly found myself through this company. I now have the financial freedom to spoil my children and husband with extra surprises. And if my husband has it his way, his next surprise will be a new boat! I love helping others build their dreams and seeing mine come true.

My Thirty-One Story

My story began in September 2006 with a chance phone conversation about gift ideas that led me to the Thirty-One website. I was immediately attracted to the company after reading the mission statement and learning that Thirty-One was a faith-based company. I knew I wanted to be a part of the company, so after much prayer and talking things over with my husband I took the Thirty-One plunge.

Nearly two years later, I am amazed by the many ways Thirty-One has blessed my family and I. Starting out as a first-time consultant in direct sales, I never dreamed of being promoted to Senior Director in such a short amount of time. This opportunity helped me build my confidence and given me the financial freedom to build a new home! It has also given me the wonderful chance to stay home with my two children.

Working with Cindy, the home office staff and other Thirty-One directors has been amazing. Helping other women achieve their goals and contributing financially to my family are my favorite things about being a part of the Thirty-One family. I am so thankful God led me to this life-changing experience!

If you order lower case letters they will be sewn as lower case letters. If you wish to have 3 initials appear all the same size, enter as a single line embroidery.

For names, words and single letters, please type it exactly as you would like it to appear, including your preference of upper and/or lowercase letters. For a single letter with dots, indicate with an asterisk, example M.
